Trust Survey

The OECD has developed guidance for ways in which trust in institutions can be measured. LBTH Public Health are keen to adapt and use the measures to help us understand how trust in institutions locally can be assessed to help us improve our local public health service.

London Borough of Tower Hamlets

These next questions are about whether you have trust in various institutions in Tower Hamlets. Even if you have had very little or no contact with these institutions, please base your answer on your general impression of these institutions.

Would you have joined this activity or used this service if it was provided by the local authority rather than your local place of worship or community centre?
